NEWSLETTER

Welcome to the 2022 Brands Hatch Community Newsletter. Our new season got underway bright and early with the MGJ Engineering Winter Stages Rally on Saturday 15 January ahead of a busy season of competitive circuit events from March onwards.

Despite the challenges we've all faced globally throughout the past two years, 2021 was an enormously exciting season on the track with many major events returning to Brands Hatch – and in front of a live audience too. This year is already shaping up to be even better, with a full calendar of race meetings on two and four wheels in the pipeline, including an excellent line-up of headline events.

In the Bennetts British Superbike Championship, Tarran Mackenzie will return to defend his crown, whilst there is plenty of local interest in the Kwik Fit British Touring Car Championship following the recent confirmation that Wrotham's Motorbase Performance will run a superteam of Ashley Sutton and Dan Cammish.

Full details of the upcoming season will be finalised in the coming weeks, with confirmed dates and ticket prices already confirmed for American SpeedFest 9, GT World Challenge Europe, major historic events, and much more.

2022 Brands Hatch race calendar confirmed

The provisional 2022 race calendars for all five of MSV's circuits, including Brands Hatch, have been confirmed ahead of another packed season of events on two and four wheels across the country.

Brands Hatch will host more than its fair share of the best that UK motorsport has to offer between now and the end of the year, with countless headline events. These will include two rounds each of the Bennetts British Superbike Championship and Kwik Fit British Touring Car Championship, plus GT World Challenge Europe which returns on 30 April/1 August.

Other major championships to visit will include the Intelligent Money British GT Championship and GB3 Championship partnered by the BRDC, plus Time Attack UK and the British Truck Racing Championship. The NASCAR Whelen Euro Series returns too, headlining American SpeedFest 9 at Brands Hatch on 11-12 June amidst another summer of family-friendly themed festivals.

There will be special historic and vintage events too, displaying many facets of motor racing's golden past, whilst a packed club event schedule on two and four wheels ensures that there is something to see most weekends from March until November.

Exciting season ahead for local BTCC teams and drivers

There will be plenty of local interest in this year's Kwik Fit British Touring Car Championship, following the exciting driver news over the off-season from Wrotham's Motorbase Performance team and Kent racer Jake Hill.

Motorbase will run reigning champion Ashley Sutton on this year's grid as it chases a first outright crown in the country's leading four-wheeled championship. Sutton will be joined in a race-winning line-up by returning ace Dan Cammish who came very close to sealing the crown at Brands Hatch in 2019.

Tunbridge Wells ace Jake Hill will join West Surrey Racing's crack BMW outfit for 2022 as he continues to establish himself as one of the BTCC's regular frontrunners.
